The people of the State demand a safer and more reliable banking system, and they expect the Legulature to respond to the imperative demand.

SLEIGHING .- Saturday was like a carnival day. The streets were filled with all imaginable vehicles and the vehicles were filled with smiling faces, old and young. Blessed was he who owned or could borrow a horse. There were family parties, sometimes under a dozen in number and sometimes over, all crowding together into the ancestra aleigh; jovial parties of young gentlemen in a state of preternatural excitement, partially induced by the keen air; and parties of two, smothering under piles of wolf skins, in those provoking little cutters, whose sides ncline to such a remarkable manner towards the middle, that it is impossible not to lean that way. And so they glided, hither and thither-backward and forward-up and

PRINTERS' PESTIVAL-From what we can earn, we should judge that this is to be the affair of the season. Those who have attended former entertainments given by the printers in this city, will have no difficulty in making up their minds that the occasion will be one of both pleasure and profit .-Several distinguished gentlemen of this city, will take part in the festivities, and respond to toasts at the supper table. The Supper itself, will be the beaf that Storey can compose, which is safely saying a great deal in its favor. After the table exercises, dancing will be the order of the night, and we hope

A SURPRISER SURPRISED -We noticed, a short time ago, the presentation of elegant gold-headed canes from the late Speriff, D. L. Wightman, to his five Deputies, by which act, the five worthy gentlemen were so surprised that they have hardly known themselves since. They avowed dire re-Wightman and lady were invited out to spend the evening, and went. NEW RAILROAD PROJECT.-The Philadelians are agitating a new railroad connecion between that city and New York. The Press says that parties, with ample means and with large experience in railroading, "To build a double track the whole distance between the two cities, and to equip it with engines, cars, depots, wharves, and other accommodations, such as are to be found in from city to city, regularly in three hours.

THE CLEVELAND ROAD AND THE COAL TRADE. Messrs, Simpson & Co., contractors, are suilding a short piece of railroad from Manchester to the Ohio river, for the purpose of aciliating the shipment of coal on the Cleveland and Pittsburgh Bailroad.
